crispy potatoes, juicy steak, using only one pan.

start potatoes hot, drop oven for a gentle steak roast, finish with a fast pan sear while asparagus cooks as the steak rests.

0:00 — preheat + prep

- Preheat oven to 425 °F.
- Wash and dry small potatoes. Halve if large.
- Toss with olive oil, salt, pepper (optional: garlic, rosemary).
- Spread in a single layer on a baking sheet.

0:05 – roast potatoes

- Roast for 25–30 minutes, flipping halfway.
- While roasting, season steak with salt and pepper.
- Trim and prep asparagus.

0:30 – remove potatoes, start steak

- Remove potatoes; tent loosely with foil.
- Lower oven to 250 °F.
- Place steak on a wire rack over a baking sheet.
- Roast until internal temperature reaches:
 - 115–120 °F for rare
 - 120–125 °F for medium rare
- This typically takes 20–30 minutes.

0:50 – heat cast iron

- Heat cast iron pan on high until blazing hot.

1:00 – sear steak

- Sear steak for 45–60 seconds per side.
- Optional: add butter, smashed garlic, and herbs to baste.
- Rest steak 5–10 minutes.

1:00 – cook asparagus while steak rests

option a: pan-sear (recommended)

- Wipe out cast iron pan.
- Add olive oil and cook asparagus on medium-high heat.
- Sauté 4–6 minutes, until just tender.
- Season with salt, pepper, optional lemon zest or a splash of balsamic.

option b: roast

- Toss asparagus with oil, salt, pepper.
- Roast in the hot oven at 425 °F for 8–10 minutes.
- Do this while steak rests and potatoes reheat.

1:10 – plate and serve

- Rewarm potatoes in the oven if needed (about 5 minutes).
- Slice steak against the grain.
- Serve steak, potatoes, and asparagus hot.
